Trucking Safety Rules and Semi Truck Accident Claims Texas Commercial trucking is governed semi truck personal injury lawyer by detailed safety rules from the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration and the Texas Department of Public Safety. They cover hours of service, driver qualifications, drug and alcohol testing, vehicle inspections, cargo securement and more. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer includes a trucking industry safety expert on its Truck Accident Response Team. That expert reviews whether the driver and carrier followed the rules that apply to them. Violations can be strong evidence of negligence. A pattern of violations, such as repeated roadside inspection failures, can also show that a company knew about safety problems and didn't fix them. Texas has adopted most federal motor carrier safety rules for intrastate trucking as well, with some differences in areas such as hours of service for drivers who stay within the state. Knowing which set of rules applies to a particular driver and truck is the starting point for any safety review. The firm's trucking safety expert identifies the correct rules, then checks the driver's logs, the truck's inspection records and the carrier's policies against them to find any violations that may have contributed to the crash.

Led by former Green Beret Sgt. Andrew Piekalkiewicz, the firm approaches every semi truck case with careful planning and steady preparation. That means gathering evidence early, bringing in the right experts and staying ready to go to trial if the insurer won't make a fair offer. Trucking companies notice when a firm prepares that way. Clients get honest assessments, including the weaknesses in a case, because good decisions depend on knowing the full picture. Texas sees more fatal large truck crashes than any other state, partly because of the sheer amount of freight moving across it. Ports on the Gulf Coast, border crossings at Laredo and El Paso, the Permian oilfields and huge distribution hubs around Houston and Dallas all depend on semi trucks. That traffic puts every Texas driver at greater risk. Every one of those crashes leaves a family facing questions about medical care, lost income and what comes next. People hurt in semi truck crashes often hear conflicting advice from friends, family and insurance adjusters. Some is helpful, and some can quietly damage a claim. Getting guidance from a firm that handles truck cases every day cuts through the noise. You'll know what to do, what to avoid and what to expect over the coming weeks and months. Semi Truck Accident Lawyer Can you sue if a semi truck hits you? Yes. If the driver or trucking company was careless, you can bring a claim against the driver and usually the motor carrier, and sometimes the trailer owner, shipper or maintenance company. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer reviews who's responsible for your crash and which policies apply, with no upfront fee. Call (832) 250-4888 to talk it through. How do you sue a trucking company after an accident? The process starts with a preservation demand so the carrier keeps its truck data, driver logs and camera footage. The firm then investigates, builds the claim and presents it to the insurers once your treatment picture is clear. If no fair offer comes, a lawsuit is filed and the case moves through discovery, mediation and, if needed, trial. How much are most semi truck accident settlements? There's no reliable average because every case turns on its own injuries, medical costs, lost income, fault evidence and available insurance. A soft tissue injury and a spinal cord injury lead to very different outcomes. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer gives honest, free assessments based on the facts of your crash rather than quoting online averages. Is it worth hiring a lawyer if a commercial vehicle hit me but there wasn't much damage? Often it is. Low vehicle damage doesn't always mean low injury, and neck, back and brain injuries can take days to show up. Trucking insurers also move fast to close small claims cheaply. A free consultation with Texas Truck Accident Lawyer will tell you honestly whether representation makes sense for your situation. How long do I have to file a semi truck accident lawsuit in Texas? Texas generally allows two years from the date of the crash for personal injury lawsuits and two years from the date of death for wrongful death claims. Claims involving government entities can require notice much sooner. The firm identifies every deadline in your case at the first meeting. What if the semi truck driver says the crash was my fault? Texas uses proportionate responsibility, so you can still recover if you were 50 percent or less at fault, with your award reduced by your share. Insurers often try to push blame onto the other driver. Truck data, witness interviews within 48 hours and crash reconstruction help keep fault assigned on the evidence. Who pays when an Amazon or FedEx truck causes a crash? It depends on who employed the driver and who owned the vehicle. Many Amazon deliveries are run by delivery service partners, and some FedEx routes are run by independent contractors, each with its own insurance. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer works through those arrangements to identify every source of coverage. What damages can I recover after a semi truck crash in Texas? You can seek medical expenses, future care, lost wages, lost earning capacity and property damage, along with pain, mental anguish, physical impairment and disfigurement. Where a company acted with gross negligence, exemplary damages may also be available. The firm's nurse practitioner helps make sure every injury is documented. Do I need a lawyer who focuses on truck accidents? Semi truck cases involve federal safety rules, driver qualification files, electronic logging data and several layers of insurance that ordinary car wreck claims don't. A firm that focuses on trucking knows which records to demand and how to use them. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer handles truck and commercial vehicle crashes across Texas from Houston and Dallas. How much does a semi truck accident lawyer cost? Texas Truck Accident Lawyer works on contingency, so there's no upfront payment and no attorney's fee unless the firm recovers money for you. The firm also covers investigation and expert costs while the case moves forward. The fee is explained clearly before you sign.
