What is CS: GO Roulette?

CS: GO roulette is a variation of standard European or American roulette, adapted for virtual item betting. Instead of wagering fiat currency like dollars or euros, gamers transfer their CS: GO weapon skins, knives, or gloves onto a third-party gambling platform. These items are transformed into site credits (typically referred to as coins, points, or gems), which are then utilized to put bets on a spinning wheel.

While the interface differs CS2 Skin Roulette from site to website, the core concept stays identical to conventional gambling establishment roulette: gamers attempt to predict which sector of a wheel a marker will land on. If they think correctly, they win credits proportional to the odds of that section. These credits can then be withdrawn back out of the platform as new, different CS: GO skins.

How the Game Works: The Mechanics

Basic CS: GO roulette wheels are usually divided into colored segments-- most frequently red, black, and green (or often an unique prize symbol).

- Red and Black: These normally comprise the huge majority of the wheel (e.g., 7 sectors each on a 15-segment wheel). Betting on red or black usually pays 2x the original wager.
- Green: This functions as the "house edge" or absolutely no slot. Because it appears much less often (e.g., 1 segment out of 15), wagering on green normally yields a higher payment, normally 14x the original wager.

A Standard 15-Segment Wheel Breakdown

Outcome	Variety of Segments	Payout Ratio	Approximate Probability
Black	7	2x	46.67%
Red	7	2x	46.67%
Green	1	14x	6.66%

As displayed in the table above, the addition of the green sector ensures that the casino (the site) maintains a mathematical benefit over the player over the long term.
