Preparing for a Miramar Physician Office Visit: Additional Questions

Should I bring the actual pill bottles to my appointment, or is a written list enough?

Either can work, but the Medical Board of California suggests bringing bottles so you have correct information about strength and dosages. A written list is also effective if it records the name, strength, and how often you take each medicine, as the Illinois Department of Public Health advises. Include prescription drugs, over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and supplements. Whichever format you choose, make sure it is complete and current.

Is it worth scheduling my next appointment before I leave the office?

Yes. The Illinois Department of Public Health recommends scheduling your next appointment before you leave so you don't forget. If tests or visits with other doctors are needed, it suggests arranging those right away as well, while checking insurance coverage if necessary. Handling scheduling at the end of the visit keeps follow-up from slipping and reduces the chance of gaps in your care.

What should I ask if I'm told a nurse practitioner or physician assistant will take part in my care?

The Medical Board of California lists this as a question worth asking before an initial visit: whether other physicians or non-physicians such as a nurse practitioner or physician assistant will participate in your care, Home page and whether that is optional. Asking directly lets you understand who will actually see you and make decisions, and whether you can request the physician instead, before you commit to the practice.

What should I ask about who covers for my doctor when they are unavailable?

The Medical Board of California recommends asking who covers the doctor's patients when he or family doctors 33027 she is not available. This matters for continuity, since you want to know who will respond if you get sick between appointments. Related preparation guidance from MedlinePlus and the Illinois Department of Public Health emphasizes understanding your care arrangements so questions and concerns are not left unresolved when your regular clinician is away.

What should I do if I don't understand the doctor's explanation of a test or treatment?

Ask the doctor to explain or repeat it. The Illinois Department of Public Health specifically advises making sure you understand what your doctor says and requesting clarification of medical words, tests, and treatments rather than leaving confused. Before the visit, write down questions such as what could be causing your symptoms and whether you have other treatment options, as MedlinePlus suggests, so you have a clear starting point for the conversation.
