What is CS: GO Roulette?

CS: GO roulette is a casino-style video game adjusted from traditional European roulette, with one significant twist: rather of betting fiat currency (like GBP or EUR), players utilize virtual weapon skins, knives, and cases as security.

Third-party gaming platforms allow users to transfer their Steam inventory products, which are converted into on-site virtual credits. Players then use these credits to place bets on a spinning wheel. - Black: Covers 7 numbers (providing a 2x payout).
- Green: Covers 1 number, typically your house number (using a 14x payment).

4. Putting Bets: The gamer goes into the roulette room, picks their wanted chip value, and locations wagers on Red, Black, Green, or specific number ranges before the betting timer expires.
5. The Spin: The digital wheel spins, and a random number generator (RNG) determines the winning section.
6. Withdrawal: Successful players can use their balance to purchase new skins from the site's shop and demand a trade deal back to their personal Steam account.

Understanding the Odds and House Edge

Like any gambling establishment video game, CS: GO roulette is mathematically designed to prefer your house over the long term. Understanding the underlying likelihoods helps players manage expectations.

Bet Type	Winning Segments (Standard 15-Slot Wheel)	Probability (%)	Payout Multiplier	House Advantage Contribution
Red	7 out of 15	46.67%	2x	Integrated via the Green zero
Black	7 out of 15	46.67%	2x	Integrated via the Green absolutely no
Green	1 out of 15	6.66%	14x	Produces a baseline home edge

Your Home Edge Explained

If a wheel has 15 sections and Green pays 14x on a 15-slot wheel, the math exposes your home edge. If you bet 1 credit on Red and 1 credit on Black all at once, you cover 14 out of 15 slots. If Green strikes, you lose both bets. This small mathematical inconsistency (the missing 15th sector value payout normalization) is how platforms guarantee profitability.
