

7 Steps for Choosing the Best Personal Injury Lawyer in Los Angeles and Eisenberg Law Group PC

Choosing the best personal injury lawyer in Los Angeles starts with a structured comparison, not a single advertisement. A civil injury claim is not criminal defense; it requires a lawyer who personal injury attorneys in los angeles can investigate, negotiate, and prepare for court if needed.

1. Compare More Than One Lawyer

The State Bar of California's guide Before Selecting an Attorney recommends comparison shopping: find two or more candidates and contact them for brief interviews. Ask about similar cases each lawyer has handled.

2. Prepare for the First Meeting

Bring organized information so the interview is useful. Ask what happens at every step, from demand letter to court filing.

- Key facts and a timeline of the incident.
- Contact information for witnesses and people connected with the case.
- Medical bills, photos, repair estimates, and insurance letters.
- Questions about similar cases and who will handle your case.

3. Ask About Fees and Written Terms

In California, personal-injury contingency-fee retainer agreements must be in writing, and the client must receive a signed copy under Business and Professions Code section 6147. Ask how costs, liens, and billing are handled before you sign.

4. Treat Guarantees as a Warning

Be wary of any lawyer who guarantees results. A lawyer should explain the strengths and weaknesses of your case, the expected timeline, the steps involved, and how fees and billing work.

5. Check the Firm and Protect Your Information

Use a firm's official website, read the privacy policy before uploading records, and be cautious if a page asks you to sign in or accept a user agreement before identifying the lawyer. A professional association or certified Lawyer Referral Service may help you compare lawyers. Certified Lawyer Referral Services can refer lawyers in good standing who carry professional liability insurance and offer reduced-fee or free initial consultations; look for a State Bar certification number or mark.
