

How Long a San Antonio Car Accident Case Usually Takes Most injury cases don't move in a straight line. They speed up, stall, then speed up again. If you've been hurt in a wreck, you want your car fixed, your bills paid and your life back, and every week of waiting feels long. The honest answer is that timing depends on your case, but knowing what drives the timeline can make the wait a lot less mysterious. Go here The first stage is usually your medical treatment. It's tempting to settle fast, but a claim generally shouldn't be valued until you've finished treatment or your doctors have a clear picture of your future care. Settle too early and you can't go back for the surgery or therapy you didn't know you'd need. A simple soft tissue case might wrap up treatment in a few months. A spinal cord injury or brain injury can take much longer to understand. Once you sign a release, the claim is usually over for good, so a little patience here can matter. Next comes gathering evidence and building the demand. That means the CR-3 crash report from TxDOT's CRIS system, medical records and bills, proof of lost wages, photos and witness statements. Then negotiation begins. Some insurers make a fair offer after a round or two. Others drag their feet or dispute fault, especially in multi-car pileups on I-10 near La Cantera or crashes at US 281 and Loop 410 where more than one driver may share blame. If talks stall, filing a lawsuit may be the next step, and litigation adds time. In Texas, most injury claims must be filed within two years of the crash, so a lawsuit can't wait forever.

A few things tend to help a case move. Getting a lawyer involved early. Keeping up with treatment. Saving receipts and records. Things that slow it down include disputed fault, serious injuries, low policy limits and multiple insurance companies. Texas minimum liability coverage is only $30,000 per person, so if your losses are larger, your own UM/UIM coverage may come into play too, which adds another insurer to the conversation. Waiting is easier when you know what's happening. At The Aguirre Law Firm, the same team stays with your case from start to finish, and clients often mention regular update calls from paralegal Jackie and case manager Nicole. Whether your crash was near Castle Hills, the airport or the Medical Center, a San Antonio car accident lawyer there can walk you through a realistic timeline for your case. The consultation is free, there's no fee unless they win, and calls are answered 24/7. Call (210) 922-0808 or visit the Napier Park office just off Loop 1604.

The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC Address: 3015 Napier Pk, San Antonio, TX 78231 Phone: (210) 922-0808 FAQ About San Antonio Car Accident Lawyer How much do lawyers take from a car accident settlement in Texas? Most Texas car accident lawyers work on contingency, so their fee is a percentage of what they recover and nothing if they lose. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC handles San Antonio car accident cases this way, with no upfront cost and no fee unless the firm wins. The exact percentage is set out in your written fee agreement before any work starts, so there are no surprises. How hard is it to win a car accident lawsuit? It depends on the evidence. Clear fault, a CR-3 crash report, photos, witnesses and consistent medical records make a claim much stronger. Founder Alex Aguirre spent the start of his career defending insurance companies, so the firm knows the arguments insurers use to deny or shrink claims and prepares for them early. Most cases settle, but the team is ready to go to trial when an offer is unfair. What is my San Antonio car accident claim worth? No honest lawyer can put a number on your claim without looking at the details. Value depends on your medical bills, future treatment, lost wages, the severity of your injuries and how clear the other driver's fault is. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC reviews all of this in a free consultation and explains what compensation may be realistic for your situation. What should I do after a car accident in San Antonio? Check everyone for injuries, call 911 and get the report number from SAPD or the Bexar County Sheriff's Office. Take photos of the vehicles and the scene, get witness details and see a doctor quickly, even if you feel fine. Then call The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC at (210) 922-0808, which is open 24 hours a day. Can I recover compensation if I was partially at fault? Yes, in many cases. Texas uses modified comparative fault, so you can still recover as long as you are less than 51 percent responsible, although your award is reduced by your share of the blame. Insurers often push extra fault onto injured drivers after crashes at busy spots like Loop 1604 and I-

10, and the firm works to challenge that with evidence. Should I talk to the other driver's insurance company? It's best not to give a recorded statement before you get legal advice. Adjusters can use casual comments like "I'm fine" to argue your injuries aren't serious. Alex Aguirre knows these tactics from his years on the defense side, and his team can handle insurer calls for you from the first day. How long do I have to file a car accident claim in Texas? Texas generally gives you two years from the date of the crash to file a personal injury lawsuit, and two years from the date of death for a wrongful death claim. Some claims, such as those involving a government vehicle, can have earlier notice requirements. Calling The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC early gives the team time to gather evidence before it disappears. What compensation can I get after a San Antonio car wreck? You may be able to recover current and future medical costs, lost wages and earning capacity, property damage, pain and suffering, mental anguish and physical impairment. In cases of gross negligence, such as some drunk driving crashes, Texas law may also allow exemplary damages. The firm reviews every category so nothing gets left out of your claim. What if the driver who hit me has no insurance? Your own policy may still protect you. Texas insurers must offer uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage and personal injury protection, and PIP is included unless you rejected it in writing. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC reviews your policy for free and pursues every available source of recovery, including in hit and run cases. Do I need a lawyer for a minor car accident? If nobody was hurt and the damage is small, you may not need one. If you have pain, missed work or the insurer is disputing fault, a free consultation is worth the call. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC will tell you plainly whether your San Antonio crash needs legal help. How long does a car accident settlement take in Texas? Simple claims can settle in a few months, while serious injury cases often take longer because you need to finish treatment before the full cost is known. Clients of the firm often mention regular update calls from paralegal Jackie and case manager Nicole, so you're never left guessing where your case stands. Does the firm help Spanish-speaking clients? Yes. Hablamos Espanol, and the firm offers language assistance so Spanish-speaking clients can discuss their case comfortably.
